

REPORT ON ONE DAY INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP

A One-Day International Workshop on “Competencies Development For Biodiversity Conservation With Special Reference To Ne India” was jointly organized by the Department of Botany, Department of Zoology, IQAC DHSK College and IQAC Tinsukia College in association with Zoological Society of Assam (ZSA) on 27th March 2024. The main aim of the workshop was to enhance students' critical thinking by identifying the knowledge and skills needed for pursuing pathways in biodiversity conservation.

The resource person for the workshop was Dr. Ramesh Boonratana, Retd. Professor (conservation biology), Mahidol University, Thailand, Regional Vice-Chair, IUCN SSC Primate Specialist Group and Editor-in-Chief, Asian Primates Journal.

The workshop was inaugurated by Dr. Priyadev Goswami, Vice Principal of DHSK College, followed by the technical sessions.

The workshop provided a platform for the participants to engage with an international transdisciplinary expert, share insights and acquire practical competencies essential for effective conservation practices and determining individual pathways in the field of biodiversity conservation. The resource person guided the participants to apply theoretical concepts to real-world scenarios. Participants discussed ‘case studies’ of biodiversity conservation projects and proposed solutions to remediate or mitigate the threats and impacts.

The workshop adopted an interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approach, integrating the broader natural and social sciences to address the complex challenges of biodiversity conservation. The participants received intensive sharing of information on effective communication strategies for conveying scientific findings to diverse audiences, including policymakers, communities, and the general public, and on understanding the UN-SDGs and GBIF for biodiversity conservation.

More than 100 students from DHSK College and Tinsukia College participated in the workshop. In the valedictory session, certificates were distributed to all the participants.
